

Help for Hard Economic Times

FROM THE FREED TO LEAD INITIATIVE

The economic down turn has impacted nearly every home, family and individual in our synod. Layoffs, long periods of unemployment, depleted savings, and dwindling investments have become common place to all. It is a time when stretching dollars further by being good stewards and money managers is important to everyone.

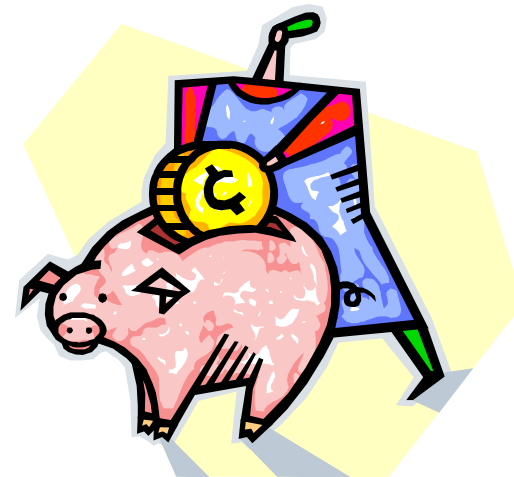

The Freed to Lead Initiative and Thrivent Financial for Lutherans have teamed up to offer a course for Adult Sunday Schools of the Indiana-Kentucky Synod that can help members to address this need in a biblical and practical way.

More than Money Matters begins by addressing one's stewardship and values, and then assists members in:

- Communicating about money with family & others
- Setting goals
- Handling credit & reducing debt
- Saving and budgeting

Taught by a Thrivent Financial representative, this 6-session course will fit within a typical Adult Sunday School hour or may be used in a workshop setting.

Freed to Lead

encourages all of our IK Synod churches to schedule this biblically-based course to assist all our members during this special time of economic need. Contact the FTL Director, Pastor Thomas Weitzel, at tweitzel@iksynod.org to schedule your course soon. Let's lift the whole church!
