

I-K Synod Communications

Summary for 2009

www.iksynod.org

Danielle Burrus

Being Interconnected: Using a variety of communication tools to empower, equip and encourage the I-K Synod community to make Christ known♦

- Continually updated Web site
- Weekly email newsletter
- I-K Epistle for rostered and lay leaders
- I-K Lutheran newsletter for congregations
- Sanctus worship newsletter
- Facebook presence
- EPAM Ning
- I-K Synod on YouTube
- I-K Synod Assembly tweets
- Bulletin inserts

Communicating Honestly and Openly Welcoming your ideas, input, and suggestions to make the weekly email newsletters relevant and useful♦ Creating a fresh new look for the I-K Synod Web site this summer♦

Christ-Centered, Compassionate Communicating with a clear sense of purpose that is connected to God's mission in our world♦ Being touched by the Holy Spirit to create opportunities for members' personal and spiritual growth so that each may better worship and serve God♦

Collaborative Sharing faith stories about you and your congregation's journey together in ministry♦ Always looking for ways to show how God uses ordinary people to portray extraordinary grace♦

Faithful, Trusting Being faithful to the Gospel and the message of Jesus, creating lines of communication every week and every month to inform and equip members with the resources and news they need to make Christ known♦

Committed Being committed to a partnership with you and fellow missionaries as we continue to look for creative and effective ways to communicate the movement of God's Spirit in our current culture and economy♦

Taking Risks

Taking a risk can result in opportunities. This year, we needed to stop printing the I-K Lutheran newspaper. Now that it is redesigned as an online newsletter, it is available to each and every I-K Synod congregational member. We hope that your pastor or lay leader prints and copies it for you every month.

Please send me your faith stories. dburrus@iksynod.org